

Park Avenue Club: Where Culinary Experiences Benefit a Great Cause

The Park Avenue Club (PAC) in Florham Park, NJ is truly special. It's a family-oriented, charitable dining and social club where new members and those who have been members for years, some for generations, mingle, enjoy meals and activities – and most importantly, friendships.

Aside from being a social club, PAC has a charitable impact via The Park Avenue Foundation (PAF) to support 10 regional non-profits. Since 1994, over $6 million has been distributed to such non-profits by PAF.

The Club, which boasts nearly 1,000 corporate, individual and family members, offers daily breakfast, lunch and dinner in two exquisite private settings—one informal and the other more upscale. Each has a separate mouthwatering menu. Members are invited to frequent these dining areas with family, friends, colleagues and clients.

Dining at Park Avenue Club rivals the best the tri-state has to offer. A diverse wine list and drinks curated by an on-site mixologist, are spot on. And they take personalized dining to the next level. “As a Private members Club, we truly want to know our members’ food and beverage preferences, allergies and more. Unlike a typical restaurant experience, more unique and intimate memories can be developed here,” according to Executive Director, Gregory Smith.

There is also a robust social calendar with special themed events for people of all ages, interests and tastes. Members enjoy many social clubs including Book Club, Cigar and Wine Enthusiasts. Activities include live music on weekends, along with daily al fresco dining patios in season.

And that’s not all—after the recent construction of a $7.5 million, 14,200 sq. ft. events wing, Park Avenue Club boasts a gorgeous state-of-the-art ballroom that holds over 400 seated guests. Six additional private spaces are ideal for any type of event from small meetings to weddings, mitzvahs and corporate gatherings.

“While there’s lots to do here, PAC members are not limited to the one location—they have access to 180 reciprocal clubs located all over the world—with 161 in the US,” says Board President, Steven Lindner. “Many include golf and tennis privileges, and of course, more culinary treats.”

The recent renovations now allow PAC to add an additional 500 members to its roster. Many membership levels are available to fit any budget. For socially conscious people and businesses looking for enjoyable culinary, social and networking opportunities, Park Avenue Club is a unique and affordable option.
